week, or month.

My Stables are situated on the corner of Princess and Third Streets, directly opposite the Court-House, and very convenient to the business part of the town. They are built of brick, and covered with tin, which makes them entirely fire-proof. They are large, commodious, and well constructed; and in every respect as comfortable and convenient as any Stables in the United States.

I also have (for the accommodation of Drovers.) a large and comfortable Lot, together with a basement under the Stables sufficient to hold one hundred horses, and shelter them well and comfortably.

Horses, Carriages, and Buggles, kept constantly for hire. My Hostlers cannot be surpassed in any country, and I therefore feel confident of giving entire satisfaction to those

THE BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING. WE learn that Dr. S. P. Townsend has sold out the good will of his Sarsaparilla business, including machinery and raw material on hand, for the large sum of $100,000.—
This is an illustration of the advantages and benefits of advertising. The purchasers are Messrs. Nostrand & Buch, both wealthy and well known individuals. They have, we understand, employed the celebrated Chemist, Dr. James R. Chilton, who will hereafter have the compounding department under his own immediate supervision. They are men of enterprise, and will, no doubt, sustain the character of this celebrated medicine, which has the reputation of being the best preparation of Sarsaparilla made in the United States. The new proprietors, we understand, warrant their article te stand in all climates any length of time, which we have no doubt of, when manufactured by so practical a chemist as Professor Chilton, who is well known to be one of the first chemists in this country.

The public are hereby notified that the preparation extensively known as Dr. S. P. Townsend's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, is now manufactured under my direction OF SARSAPARILLA, is now manufactured under my direction and supervision, from the OBIGINAL RECIPE obtained from Dr. S. P. Townsend, and I certify that it is composed of ingredients purely vegetable, and without Mercury—and also that the ingredients are judiciously compounded, so as to obtain from them their greatest medicinal effects.

JAMES R. CHILTON, Chemist.

New York, February, 1850. The undersigned, wholesale Druggists in the city of New York, have sold Dr. S. P. TOWNSEND'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA for several years, and consider it the Original and Genuine Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla, and that it was the first introduced to public notoriety under that name.

The State of the Country and the Adjustment. At no time since the commencement of the present excitement on the slavery question, has the state of parties -- of sections -- and of the country at large. been more complicated or more critical. So far as any immediate action at the South is concerned, we the manner. Eccles is a trump. And then there form various other public services; and why not vote the two previous weeks. There is altogether too many conflicting opinions and interests among the Southern people to admit of any united or efficient action at the present time. As we have before observed. not one Southern State, with the exception of South Carolina, is prepared to resort to extreme measures. The real danger comes from the Union-loving North: from two States which have derived more benefits from the Union, and more wealth from the Southern people, than all others combined. We allude to Massachusetts and New York. It is now almost unnecessary to allude to WINTHROP's course in the Senate. It is enough to say that he is identified with SEWARD, and everybody knows what his course has been. WINTHROP is sustained in Massachusetts, and her first men make no secret of avowing that the fugitive slave law will not be, and dare not be, executed in Massachusetts. In New York, an election is to come off on the first Monday of next month for State officers and for members of Congress. The Whig nominees are essentially Seward men, Free Soilers, and Anti-Renters, to the back bone. The know the Editors very well, and think them reasons the opponents of free suffrage, they do not object to first Whig Convention which assembled at Syracuse endorsed SEWARD, using terms of the highest commendation. From this Convention a few members seceded, and called another Convention, which assembled at Utica on the 17th of the present month. and nominated the same ticket. Between the meeting of the two Conventions, Washington Hunt, the Syracuse nominee for Governor, had written a letter condemning the fugitive bill and every other plank of the "Omnibus," with the exception of the admission of California, and the abolition of the slave trade in the District of Columbia. WASHINGTON HUNT goes for the repeal of the fugitive slave bill, and yet he is endorsed and eulogized by DUER, FRANK GRAN-GER, and the so-called "National Whigs" of New this two-faced and three-legged party succeeds, and we fear it will succeed, farewell to peace and quiet- was only consistent in inconsistency. ness-and, we had almost said, farewell to the Union. A more ridiculous farce than this Utica Convention. called by the friends of Mr. FILLMORE, cannot well be conceived of. It differs in nothing from the previous Convention at Syracuse, only that it complains that Mr. Seward engrossed all the praise, leaving none for their honorable selves, and so Messrs. "Speaker Holmes!" Good lack. at Utica during the present month. Well, that Convention has met, and endorsed the Syracuse Abolition nominations throughout, although Washington HUNT, the Syracuse candidate for Governor, has written a long letter to FRANK GRANGER, in which he takes ground against the so-called "National Whigs" of that State. He accepts the Syracuse nomination, goes against the extension of slavery, and asks the repeal of the Fugitive Slave law. And with all these imperfections or his head, he is accepted and endorsed by the so-called "National Whigs," with DUER and FRANK GRANGER at their head. If this be " National Whiggery." God save the country from such nationality. We do sincerely believe that more of the future peace and prosperity of the country hangs upon the success of the Democratic party in New York than upon any other single event. If Solomon Foot, whig, of Rutland, U. S. Senator in the Feds. succeed, it is a triumph of Sewardism. If place of Mr. Phelps, whose term expires on the 4th the Democrats succeed, Dickinson, or some one of similar opinions, will be sent to the Senate. We shall await the result of the New York elections with the utmost anxiety. Democratic Pennsylvania has the utmost anxiety. Democratic Pennsylvania has nobly vindicated her character. The Civilian proposes to make a very novel use o the money to be received from the U.S. It thinks that after paying off the debt of Texas three millions will remain. This sum is to be received in U. The bolls are almost all matured and open, and the quantity picked out daily to the hand is greater than we have ever known before in Texas. Two hundred pounds is looked upon as a small day's work, and the amounts picked in some cases are almost incredible We regret to add that this state of things cannot long continue, as the whole crop will probably be picked out the present month. The yield is from a third to a half less than usual, though in a few cases full crops have been made.

A letter of a late date from Harrison county, says the cotton crop is turning out much better than was anticipated. The corn crop has been quite abun-An immense immigration has made corn growing very lucrative in Eastern Texas for the last two years.

A letter from Cincinnati, Walker county, says Cotton picking is at least a month later with us than usual, but our planters are now busy getting it out, and owing to the prevailing impression that a decline is about taking place in the price of the article, a great deal will go to Houston by wagon rather than wait the uncertainty of a rise in the river.

A letter from Houston has the following: The crop of cotton will be much better than was anticipated a few months since, though nothing like a full average crop. The season for picking thus far has been as good as could be desired, and the planters are diligently improving it. At least one fourth more cotton will be made in the Trinity Valley this than any previous year; and if boats ure up the river in time, a large proportion of it will find its way to Galveston. The people in the vicinity of Trinity are disposed to establish commercial relations with

The people in that section are busily engaged in removing a coop and feed them on sifted corn meal dough, and obstructions to the navigation of Trinity river .-It is confidently believed that steamboats will be able to ascend as high as Dallas. The accounts of the sugar crop on the Lower Brazos and Caney are rather discouraging. The cane give them plenty of water and gravel. The first I on most plantations has ripened only three or four feet high, and in some instances it is hardly worth cutting. Scarcely half a crop will be made this

The Victoria Advocate of the 10th inst. gives some awful accounts of Indian depredations in that vicinity. They came within twenty miles of Victoria, and after stealing horses, and committing an outrage upon a female too shocking and horrible to contemplate, much less describe, they succeeded in getting off with their plunder without molestation or harm.

We can cultivate them with less than half the labor they are cultivated in England or the Northern States, and if turneps make land richer by their culture in England will it not do the same here? Our farmers are constantly inquiring, how shall we manure our lands? Many seem to think that an application of animal manure is the only sure help to exhausting lands.-We do not yet fully appreciate the philosophy of rotation of crops, and especially of cultivating those crops which leave more in the earth than they take from it, as a preparatory crop to our great staples. When the cow pea and the turnep crop shall be fully understood and appreciated here, by the shade which they afford the land, by the gasses from the atmosphere which they convey to the soil, by the light and permeable state in which they leave the ground, then will our farmers have a resource equal to the famed clover of the North, and with judicious management of the animal and vegetable substances within the reach of every farmer he may till his lands year after year, and each succeeding year they will increase in productiveness and value. Farmers, don't you believe it? What keeps up the soils of the Old World! Lands that feed annually a dense population, and that have done it for centuries d will do it for centuries to come! What is past, an wanted but a thorough knowledge of the capacities of the soil and the sustenance required for each variety of crop? It is not that their lands are richer,

Scarcely have I failed to raise every one, notwithstanding frequent rains and thunder storms, and no more attention is needed but just enough to keep them gentle, and once a week is enough for that. During all this time the butter must be frequently stirred, say once in five or ten minutes, so that the whole mass may be thoroughly intermixed, and the top and bottom change places from time to time. When the melted mass boils the fire is to be so regulated to keep the butter at a gentle boil for about two hours, the stirring being continued, but not necessarily so frequent as before. The vessel is then to be removed from the fire and set aside to cool and settle, still gradually; this process of cooling is supposed also to require about two hours. The melted mass is then, while still liquid, to be carefully poured into the crook or jar in which it is to be kept. In the process of cooling there is deposited a whitish, cheesy sediment, proportioned to the quantity of butter, which is to be carefully prevented from intermixing

Much has been said and written about the advantages of cutting green food for cattle and horses, ern States corn is extensively used for soiling, as is also clover; but there is no grass or grain that we spread out before him. It is cultivated in drills, and tilled in all respects like corn; and we venture the assertion, that one acre of millet, judiciously cut, will yield more soiling or drying than eight acres of other grass or grain that is known to cultivators. Every man that keeps a horse should tend a small field of millet.

It is cruel to keep a horse entirely on dry fodder through the summer; an occasional feed of green stuff is as necessary to the health of the horse as are the vegetables of the spring to the health and comfort of man. There is no danger of scouring a horse fed on green millet: it seems entirely adapted to the South; and if we cultivate it green or dry we need not mourn the fact that the clovers cannot be profitably cultivated in the South.

In Cumberland county, on the 28th ult, John H. Rich who has wept in passionate agony over a dead babe, has lived to love the memory of the lost one better than she loves the survivors. We speak not now of the unhappy instance where those whom death has spared grow up to be the pain of a parent's existence, wife of Mr. GEO. C. McKinnell, and daughter of Mrs. E but of the more frequent cases where the ties of gratitude, so strong in childhood, gradually become weakened by absence, where the mother is almost forgotten by the child, where the babe grows up in to the stearn-hearted and emotionless man. On such occasions the parent can scarcely realize that the stern, selfish man who stands before her was the babe she dandled in her arms, and who then smiled gratefully upon her, and she may well recall, as she often does, the infant who died, and who still is to her the prattling happy babe. Thus, even in sorrow, there is consolation. We lay the child in the tomb and weep tears of agony as we do it: but babe she dandled in her arms, and who then the tomb and weep tears of agony as we do it; but riss; with mdze. to sundry persons.

ASTRMA M CONSUMPTION The annals of medical science, affording as they do ample proof of the power and value of many medicinal agents, have furnished no examples to compare with the salutary offects produced by "AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL." The remargable cures of diseases of the Lungs which have been realized by its use, attested as they are by many prominent professors and physicians in this and foreign lands, should encourage the afflicted to persevere with the strong assurance that the use of the "CHERRY PECTORAL' will relieve and ultimately cure them.

We present to the public unsolicited testimonials from some of the first men in our country, upon whose judgment and experience implicit confidence may be placed.

Norwich, April 26, 1846.

Dr. J. C. Aver—Dear Sir:—Agreeable to the request of your agent, we will cheerfully state what we have known of the effects of your CHERRY PECTORAL and they have been astonishing indeed. Mrs. Betsey Streeter had been afflicted with a severe and relentless cough, which reduced her very low; so low that little hope could be entertained of her recovery. Numerous remedies had been tried without the feet, before the CHERRY PECTORAL. And that has circed her. George Watkinson Esq., had to our knowledge been afflicted with Asthma, for eleven years, and grown yearly worse, until the CHERRY POCTORAL has now removed the disease and he is as froe from any of its symptoms as we sre. The Rov. Mark Dane had been so severely stracked with the Bronchitis, as to disable him from his duties, and nothing had afforded him relief until I (Mr. Thorning) carried him a bottle of your PECTORAL, which cured him at once, and he now officiates as usual in his place.

These are three of the cases in which we have known it successful, but never to fail. We have great pleasure in certifying to these facts; and are, respected sir, your humble servants.

Many of the most prominent whigs of the South have even opposed the resolutions of southern legislatures declaring that the Wilmot Proviso ought to be resisted if it should become a law.
